

Tegeticula yuccasella
yucca moth

Co-evolution—the moth pollinates the flower, the flower produces seed, the larvae eat some of the seed, & the rest of the seed grow into new plants. How cool is that?

