

Hypoprepia fucosa
painted lichen moth

Larva eats lichens and blue-green algae.

The pupa was in a depression on underside of wood surrounded by a very light silk weaving.

