

Acronicta increta*, southern oak dagger moth, larvae variously colored, host plants: oak & other Fagaceae, by day larvae rest on under side of leaf with head next to abdomen¹
Oops, the adult moth did NOT emerge but rather a Diptera: Tachinidae parasitoid

¹Caterpillars of Eastern North America by David L. Wagner